freeze-ray™ OPTICAL DATA ARCHIVER

Panasonic

Developed for the specific needs of the world's largest data centers, freeze-ray brings automated retrieval and optical-disc reliability to the challenge of long-term mass storage. By combining the immutable storage characteristics of optical discs with the random-access speed and flexibility of a spinning disc array, freeze-ray turns long-term cold storage into nearline data that is easy to search and retrieve.

“The first technology we’ve seen that is densifying quickly enough to be competitive with hard drives” — VP, Infrastructure

- Cold storage that heats up fast
- Access archives at near hard drive speeds
- Preserve data for 100 years
- Cut energy consumption drastically
- Backward Compatible
